

July 29, 2016

GOTHAM

What 18 New Yorkers Are Doing Before Summer Ends

Whether it's escaping to Greece or just strolling across the Brooklyn Bridge, there's no better feeling than making the most of the final days of summer. Here's what 18 New Yorkers are doing before the season ends.

"My summer bucket list would include two trips. First, I'd plan a trip to San Diego, where I could eat ceviche and crudo all day and relax with the family on the beach. My second trip would be to Italy with my wife, which would also include a lot of relaxing and eating." —Thomas Perone, executive chef at Primal Cut and the Pig Guy NYC