8 New York Restaurants Opening This Fall That You Need to Add to Your Radar

The latest it restaurant in New York changes as often as Taylor Swift's relationship status. But every fall, a host of new restaurant openings vie for your attention. Here's where you'll want to book reservations in the upcoming months:

Primal Cut

Primal Cut promises to be a sleek, upscale steakhouse for the Upper East Side with smoked oak floors, granite tabletops, handsome bronze details, a sprawling bar, and a 60-seat dining room. Order everything from a warm lobster salad to a tomahawk ribeye for two when the resto opens, tentatively in September. 333 E. 60th St.
