

August 11, 2016

CBS New York

NYC Restaurant Openings: New For Fall 2016

As summer comes to an end, people are looking forward to the new restaurants that will be springing up throughout the city. From the Upper East Side to Downtown and Williamsburg, here are some of the most anticipated restaurant openings this fall.

Primal Cut

333 East 60th Street
New York, NY 10022

More: Best Steakhouses In NYC

(Credit: Courtesy Photo)

The Upper East Side is getting a fully-rebranded and sultry steakhouse. Primal Cut will host a 60-seat dining area and large bar, and the innovative new design will bring smoked oak flooring, granite tabletops, and sleek bronze details to the space where Prime 333 enjoyed seven years of success. The menu, created by Executive Chef Thomas Perone from Thomas' Green Kitchen and Pig Guy NYC, will focus on elevated steakhouse staples with fresh, seasonal additions. Signature dishes will include a warm lobster salad, double-cut lamb chops and plenty of meat cuts of the highest quality, including a Tomahawk ribeye for two.